Hoffman Re-Elected President C.-of-Co.

At the mid-summer lunch Wednesday noon the Chamber of Commerce at the Delicious Cafe, elected officers for the coming year. H. G. Hoffman was re-elected president; W. T. Tyler, vice president; Claude Kilpatrick, treasurer; Jesse Hainline, secretary, while the board of directors is made up of S. C. Sharp, Robert Collier, Greene Strother, Jesse Highland and John Stofer.

President Hoffman asked those present how many of them wished to continue their membership through another year and it is most gratifying to know that of the thirty-five assembled thirty-five hands were raised.

This organization, while only a year old, has shown some wonderful results and the town and county is to be congratulated that they have such a live, enterprising lot of interesting citizens in its midst.

Plans were announced and are being formulated for a Booster trip on the 13th to surrounding towns, East and North of us, and on the 15th West and South of us in the interest of the Montgomery County Fair, which begins on the 20th.

The Chamber of Commerce has adjourned until September, at which time its regular semi-monthly lunches will again be taken up and we make the prophecy that during the administration of the newly elected officers there will be quite a bit doing. The Advocate congratulates them on their selection of officers and again wishes to publicly assure them that the columns of this paper or any other help they can be to advance the interests for which they stand are theirs for the asking.

Splendid Attractions

We wish to call attention to the Tabb Theatre program on another page, which comprises a list of exceptional picture attractions. We think the Tabb is to be commended in offering at this time a program of such high-class pictures with many theatres now resorting to cheap pictures during the present theatrical depression we are glad that our own theatre has the courage of its conviction to offer such a program of merit under existing conditions. With Marguerite Clarke in her first picture from her own studio Friday, "The Heart of a Fool," a 7-reel special production. Saturday, Jackie Coogan in Peck's Bad Boy. The little star that played with Chaplin in the "Kid," and Charles Ray in "The Old Swimmin' Hole" Wednesday, we hope you will agree with us that you should make a special effort to attend these shows.

A CARD

To whom it may concern:

I am informed an effort is being made to place me in a false light and thus injure my candidacy, by the circulation of rumors to the effect that I have formed a combination with this or that candidate for some other office, to be nominated at the approaching primary.

In one neighborhood, it is reported I have joined hands with one candidate, while in another locality, I am supposed to have a working understanding with an opponent of the one first named. Now as a matter of fact, I am on no slate, have no lineup and am making but one race. I propose to finish that way and I want every candidate in the field, as well as his friends, to know that I am not meddling with any other race and will not do so. I am making, in an honorable way, the race for Sheriff and that alone, and I hope my friends will promptly brand any stories to the contrary as absolutely false and without foundation in fact.

Again soliciting the support and good will of the Democratic men and women of the county, I am
Very respectfully,
CHAS. E. DUFF.

JUST ONE WEEK MORE OF THE BIGGEST VOTE OFFER

Only a Short Time Left to Secure the Greatest Number of Votes on Your Subscriptions. Hand Your Favorite a Subscription or Renewal Before Next Thursday, July 14th.

You still have until 6 P. M. next Thursday, July 14th, to take advantage of the big 200,000 vote offer. Are you doing so or are you wasting these precious hours when subscriptions bring so many votes?

This is the last chance you will have to take advantage of this mammoth vote inducement, for it will not be repeated, and you will never again be able to get so many votes on your subscription as right now. As the campaign nears the close the vote offers will keep getting lower and lower and on the last day of the campaign you will only be able to get a few votes on your subscriptions. Possibly some of your friends have told you to "wait until the last day, for you will get more votes on your subscriptions." This is a mistaken idea, and if you take such advice from your friends you are going to be greatly disappointed. Time and time again we have guaranteed in the writeups that this is the last chance you will have to take advantage of a large vote offer, and we again wish to repeat that you will never again be able to make your subscriptions bring as many votes as they will between now and next Thursday. Read over the big vote offer below and then get busy among your friends without further delay.

200,000 Extra Votes Free

200,000 Extra Votes, in addition to the usual number of votes on subscriptions, will be given on each and every "Club of $15" worth of "New" subscriptions turned in on or before 6 P. M., July 14th.

Each contestant may secure as many "clubs" as she can and on each club 200,000 extra votes will be given free.

Do not hold back subscriptions—send them in as fast as you receive them, and all new subscriptions will apply on the club vote offer.

In addition to the big club vote offer there will also be twenty prize ballots awarded to the twenty candidates who do the best work during this period which closes July 1st.

Schedule of Votes

Following is the regular schedule of votes given on both old and new subscriptions. During this period three times the usual number of votes are given free on new subscriptions, back subscriptions and renewals.

	Old	New
10 years	$15.00	28,400... 56,800
8 years	12.00	21,600... 43,200
5 years	7.50	12,800... 25,600
4 years	6.00	9,600... 19,200
3 years	4.50	7,200... 14,400
2 years	3.00	4,400... 8,800
1 year	1.50	1,800... 3,600

Trim your vote coupons neatly around the edges and pin together before depositing in the ballot box. If votes are pinned together the contestant's name need only be written on the top coupon.

Store orders should be exchanged for certificate before depositing in the ballot box.

Increase Your Subscriptions

One way to secure more votes, which many of the contestants are overlooking is to get your friends to increase their subscriptions. If you have already secured a year's subscription from some friend, then try and get him to pay another year or more and cast the votes in your favor.

Not only will you get more votes this way, but you should explain to your friends that they are saving 50¢ on each year's subscription they pay for now. Now they get it at the special bargain rate of $1.50 a year—after the contest the regular rate of $2.00 a year will prevail.

To illustrate this offer more fully, note the following example:

Suppose you had secured a one-year new subscription earlier in the contest and had been given 10,800 votes on same. You now get the subscriber to extend his subscription for another year by paying $1.50 more. Then on the second payment we would give the difference between 26,400 votes (number given on a two-year subscription), and 10,800 votes or 16,600 votes on the second payment.

In this case mark the subscription "New Extended" or "Old Extended" as the case may be, so we will not send the subscriber two papers. Where the subscription was new when you first secured it, the second payment will be considered new also so far as votes are concerned, provided both payments are secured by the same contestant.

Try and get some of your friends to increase their subscription to five years. Every year they pay in advance now means a saving of 50¢.

No count was made for today's issue, as the campaign manager was out of town. All votes deposited in the ballot box since the last count will be published in Tuesday's issue. The campaign manager will return tomorrow night and will be in the office Saturday until 4 P. M. All correspondence will be answered immediately upon his return.

COACHING—Will take a limited number of pupils who were to do extra school work.

Stamp is Given the Death Penalty

Walter P. Stamp, charged with the killing of W. Smith Russell and wounding his wife while they were driving on the streets of Louisville several weeks ago, was found guilty by a Jefferson county jury and his punishment fixed at death. Clem Huggins, counsel for Stamp, tried hard for a change of venue, and after he had failed did not challenge but one juror and offered absolutely no testimony in behalf of his client. Huggins stated that he would ask for a new trial and if this was denied he would carry the case to the court of appeals. The murder of which Stamp was convicted, is said to be one of the most cold-blooded on record in Jefferson county and the quick disposition of the case by the jury is to be commended.

Council Meets

The City Council met in regular session in the Council Chamber on Tuesday night. Much routine business was transacted and the officers reports were received. The Council passed an ordinance that the city's police force shall consist of three policemen in addition to the Chief of Police, and Neale Guilfoile was elected on the force. Mr. Guilfoile, former prohibition officer was considered one of the best in the state. The Council instructed the officers to keep closest watch on bootleggers, now thought to be operating here, and to do everything in their power to stop the sale of whiskey in this city. It is thought that the election of Mr. Guilfoile on the force will be of great help along these lines. The Council also instructed the officers to arrest all violators of the automobile laws, and to see that the laws are strictly enforced.

Mr. Roy G. Kern was in Frankfort Tuesday looking after the good roads interest for Montgomery county. The initial steps are on the way. Mr. Kern, believing that all good things should have a landing in Montgomery, secured a U. S. 3 1/2-ton truck for this county. There is a phase that reads in part "he knows how," and this is fitting for Mr. Kern, "we believe in him."

NOTICE REGARDING PARIS PIKE

The State of Kentucky has agreed to take over 7 1/2 miles of the Paris pike and surface treat and thereafter maintain same, without cost to us, if we can get it in the condition designated by it by August 1. This we cannot do, unless the public will help us by staying off of it while we are repairing it. Wherever possible some other route should be traveled and when it is absolutely necessary to use it, we urge the public to drive slowly, especially over new or so-called green work. Help us get you one real good road by going to Lexington some other way and by waiting until it is surface treated by the state before joy riding or making unnecessary trips on it.

Unless we can have the sympathetic co-operation of the public as above requested, we will be obliged to close the road to all travel, pending these repairs.

Respectfully,

July 15-25 Best Time To Plant Second Spuds

Most second-crop potatoes in Kentucky are planted July 15 to July 25, according to A. J. Olney, of the horticultural department of the College of Agriculture, who states that this period has been found to be the best one for planting. The second crop of Rural and Bull Moose varieties are planted about July 15, while such varieties as the Irish Cobbler, Early Ohio and Triumphs are plant-

Storage Batteries Carry President's Voice

Mr. Kimbrough, manager of the local Exide Service Station, brought out an interesting fact the other day when he told how Exide Batteries were used to help carry President Harding's voice to the eager throng gathered at the Capitol to hear his inaugural speech.

An ingenious arrangement known as the amplifier system, was used. This system consisted of an exceedingly delicate apparatus, electrically sensitized, and connected at one end to a receiver standing in front of the President. The other end was connected to immense horns, eleven feet in length, through which, even those on the outskirts of the crowd at a distance of 600 feet, were enabled to hear distinctly the complete inaugural address.

The life-giving element in connection with this system which was used to be the largest ever attempted, was electricity. A constant supply of energy issuing from a dependable source was absolutely necessary. Naturally the one source which could be depended upon implicitly, was storage battery power.

After careful consideration by prominent electrical engineers Exide Batteries were decided upon. Nine Exide Batteries were employed, varying in size from six-cell batteries such as one used ordinarily for automobile starting and lighting, to a sixty-six cell battery similar to those used for propelling trucks, tractors and storage battery locomotives.

That these batteries did not "fall down on the job" is evidenced by the uninterrupted service they rendered until the last of the inaugural ceremonies was over.

ed as late as August 1. Indications are that an application of from 400 to 500 pounds of acid phosphate an acre outside of the Blue Grass area is profitable. If animal manures are applied directly for the potato crop they should be plowed down in the fall. Fresh manures should not be applied just before planting as they are apt to cause a too-rapid drying of the soil, and encourage scab development.

THE OLD SWIMMIN' HOLE

By James Whitcomb Riley
(This is the full text of the poem on which the picture is based, to be shown at the Tabb Theatre, on Wednesday, July 13th.)

Oh! the old swimmin' hole, where the creek so still and deep
Looked like a baby-river that was laying half asleep,
And the gurgle of the water round the drift jest below
Sounded like the laugh of something we onc't used to know
Before we could remember anything but the eyes
Of the angels lookin' out as we left Paradise;
But the merry days of Youth is beyond our control,
And it's hard to part forever with the old swimmin' hole.

Oh! the old swimmin' hole! In the happy days of yore,
When I us't to lean above it on the old sickamore.
Oh! It showed me a face in its warm sunny tide
That gazed back at me so gay and glorified,
It made me love myself, as, I leaped to caress
My shadd'r smilin' up at me with sick tenderness.
But them days is past and gone, and old Time's tuck'd his toll,
From the old man come back to the old swimmin' hole.

Oh! the old swimmin' hole! In the long, lazy days
When the hum-trum of the school made so many run-a-ways,
How pleasant was the journey down the old dusty lane,
Whare the tracks of our bare feet was all printed so plane
You could tell by the dent of the heel and the sole
They was lots o' fun on hands at the old swimmin' hole.
But the last joys is past! Let your tears in sorrow fall.
Like the rain that us't to dapple up the old swimmin' hole.

Thare the bullrushes growed and the cattails so tall,
And the sunshine and shadder fell over it all;
And it mottled the water with amber and gold
Tel the glad lilies rocked in the ripples that rolled;
And the snake-feeder's four gauzy wings fluttered by
Like the ghost of a daisy dropped out of the sky,
Or a wounded apple-blossom in the breeze's control,
As it cut across some orchard to'ards the old swimmin' hole.

Oh! the old swimmin' hole! When I last saw the place,
The scenes was all changed, like the change in my face;
The bridge of the railroad now crosses the spot
Whare the old divin' log lays sunk and fergot.
And I stray along the banks whare the trees us't to be—
But never again will they shade shelter me!
And I wish in my sorrow I could strip to the soul,
And dive off in my grave like the old swimmin' hole.

"Old Swimmin' Hole" of Boyhood Days

"How pleasant was the journey down the old dusty lane, where the tracks of our barefeet were all so plain. You could tell by the dent of the heel and the sole there was lots of fun on hand at the old swimmin' hole. So sang the poet James Whitcomb Riley and now Charles Ray has caught the haunting lilt and transferred it to the screen.

In "The Old Swimmin' Hole," presented by Arthur S. Kane as a First National attraction, at the Tabb Theatre Wednesday, July 13th, Charles Ray, that master of rustic roles, imparts a naturalness to that of Ezra, the mischievous boy, which

T. M. (TOM) GREENE

CANDIDATE FOR

COUNTY TAX COMMISSIONER (COUNTY ASSESSOR)

The office of County Tax Commissioner (County Assessor) is one of the most important within the gift of the voters.

No man wishes to pay a higher tax on his property (personal and real), than what is right and equitable.

The Assessor should be a man of fairness, of judgment, and of ability. He should be a man thoroughly conversant with the valuation of farm lands and stock, and one who would deal uprightly toward all; in short, a conscientious and qualified man.

To exploit the competency and accomplishments of some of the candidates in the race for county offices, and who will be voted for at the forthcoming Democratic primary, Saturday, August 6th, and omit special mention of the candidacy of Mr. T. M. (Tom) Greene, would be unjust to him and unfair to his many ardent friends and supporters in all parts of Montgomery county, for there are few, if any, men who have a larger circle of acquaintances and a larger number of loyal friends than has Tom Greene.

Mr. Greene is asking the votes and support of his friends for election to the office of Tax Commissioner and if those who have promised him their support will stand staunch—and there is no reason to question their fidelity—his friends have already forecast an overwhelming majority in his favor.

Born and reared on a farm in this county, and engaged in the business of stock trader for years, gives Mr. Greene properties and stock values he is a man of broad and liberal views; he would treat all alike—rich and poor, white and colored. There would be no discriminations in values under his administration. He would endeavor to treat every man fairly and honestly.

Mr. Greene is a son of the late W. B. Greene, who was one of the most popular men in the county; his friends were legion. His mother was Miss Ella Wilkerson, whose life and kindly acts will be recalled by not a few of the ADVOCATE'S readers. His wife is the daughter of Rev. J. L. West and a young woman of estimable character and fine business qualifications.

If the voters want a conscientious, capable and impartial man to serve them for the next four years as County Tax Commissioner (County Assessor) they could not find a more conspicuous example of these elements and attributes than in the person of Tom Greene. Every county needs more men of his type and caliber to fill public offices. He unquestionably possesses all the qualifications for filling the office with credit to himself and satisfaction to the voters. He pledges, if elected, his best services at all times in the discharge of the duties pertaining to the office. Its administration will be conducted in a business-like manner, subserving the best interests of the taxpayers, whose property it will be his duty to assess.

T. M. (Tom) Greene, if elected County Tax Commissioner (County Assessor), you will have put into office one of the county's most worthy, conscientious and fair-minded citizens. A man who will do his duty, but will protect your interests at all times. The office will not be a "side line" with him, but he will give it his undivided time and attention.

If a man's knowledge of his county counts for anything; a good business head, and a fair-minded vision, then the voters should give mature consideration to the candidacy of Mr. Greene. He is absolutely qualified, he is capable.

A STRONG TICKET FOR SHERIFF

Composed of Montgomery's Stalwart Manhood

SIDNEY J. CALK

BEN SCOTT

ROGER GREENE

There is no better demonstration of what a man can do than what he has accomplished in the past.

All mankind is prone to look backward and count over the deeds and acts of the individual before passing judgment as to what may be expected of him in the future.

In a sense this is proper and fair to everyone. Retrospection in many instances is essential, and always safe.

In presenting to the voters of Montgomery County the names of three of her favored and honored citizens who are asking their votes and support at the approaching Democratic primary, Saturday, August 6th, nothing is desired to be concealed; nothing covered up, for a full and complete record of their lives is open to everyone. They are too well known to the voters of the county to call for a full exploration of their sacrifices, deeds of bravery and loyalty.

Sidney J. Calk, Ben Scott and Roger Greene are asking the support of their friends and the voters generally that they may serve them in the same conscientious, faithful and efficient manner as Sheriff and Deputies as they served when the call was made for men to go over seas.

If they went over the top in France, why can they not go over the top in Montgomery on the day of nomination, August 6th? This is a question that every voter should ask himself. Is there any reason why they should not? It is for the voters to decide by their ballot on the day of the primary.

These young men are seeking the office because they need it, and the salary that shall be paid them will be divided equally among the three. If such training as Uncle Sam's men get, coupled with discipline, does not qualify for holding the office of Sheriff, then it should be asked what would make a man eligible? That they are absolutely capable of holding this office and would discharge their duties with credit to themselves and satisfaction to the citizens, is a statement that cannot be gainsaid. They are all young, sturdy, energetic men; men who fought your battles heroically and who are now asking you, in return, to put them in office that they may serve you as faithfully as they did on the fields of battle.

In this connection it will not be out of place to give a personal sketch of these young men, believing, as the writer does, that it will be read with interest by their many friends in all parts of the county.

Sidney Calk went to the army February 25, 1918, his first training being at Camp Taylor. From there he was sent to Spartanburg, S. C., where he received the commission of Corporal. When his company shipped for England he was chosen as a guard on the battleship Mt. Vernon. There were only twenty guards selected out of 10,000 men, and Corporal Calk was one of them. This was a signal honor. During his participation in the Battle of Marne he was promoted to sergeant. Notably among other engagements in which he took part was at Argonne Forest, where the fiercest battle of the war was fought. It was while there that he was recommended to the Officers' Training School, and was in training when the armistice was signed, and the Training School abandoned. The remaining time was spent in the Army of Occupation, returning home in July, 1919.

Sidney Calk is a son of Mr. Price Calk, one of the best known citizens of the county. His great-great grandfather was the first white settler in Montgomery county. That was back in Daniel Boone's time. The original Calk farm has never been outside the family, having been inherited from generation to generation to the present time, the only estate in the county with such a record.

Sidney Calk was born and reared in Montgomery county and has scores of friends in every part of it. He attended the public schools and applied his time methodically to his studies and to his business affairs, and no one can say ought against his life, his character, his capability.

Ben Scott, son of Mr. Thomas Scott, was born in Montgomery county, and he too, has a wide circle of friends and acquaintances. He enlisted in the world war July 5, 1917. He left for France the following September. He participated in the battle at Chateau Thierry; later, the battle of Soissons offensive; was wounded and sent to hospital; after recuperating he went back to his outfit and was wounded the second time, being removed to a hospital for treatment, where he remained until he was able to be returned to the states. He was discharged while an inmate in an army hospital.

Roger Greene, son of Mr. H. K. Greene, was born and raised in Montgomery county and was among the first to enlist from this county when the services of America's best manhood was needed to restore peace and stay the progress of German brutality and supremacy. He entered France in July, 1918, and was in training at the U. S. Aero Station, Paullac, and afterwards Whiddy Island, Ireland. He was connected with the naval service during the term of his retention on foreign soil.

As with thousands of other true-blue Americans, Kentuckians, and the pick of Montgomery's fearless, sturdy young manhood, Roger Greene was ready to sacrifice his life for those at home, and to make the states safe from autocracy. Their sacrifices should be rewarded; their hardships appreciated and their heroism applauded.

It takes men of judgment, as well as personal courage to hold the office of Sheriff and Deputies, and discharging the duties devolving upon them. If you elect these young men they promise a faithful discharge of all their duties, extending leniency where and when it is proper, and within the law, yet would never shirk their obligations, irrespective of friend, foe or party affiliation. Their friends are sticking by them and are working in their behalf.

They Went "Over the Top" in France— WHY Not "Over the Top" at the Polls?

OUR BANKING INSTITUTIONS

We would have our many readers, and especially those most interested, to study carefully the reports from our four banking institutions, published in Tuesday's issue. These institutions have a capital of $200,000 and they show an aggregate deposit of $1,998,484.65. Each item in the reports show the very best financial management and that the money affairs of this section are on a firm, healthy basis. Our banking interests are exponents of our local financial situation and of the management of these money institutions our people have reason for their just commendation.

WORTH THE CONSIDERATION OF ALL LOYAL CITIZENS

We are giving in full the following editorial of the Courier-Journal. It is one of those helpful expressions that rises above partisan spirit and reflects only what is best for a citizenship. Giving its own views it is coupled with the honest expressions of the Lexington Leader and these two-leading journals, adverse politically, show themselves as all other journals should be, loyal to the laws of the land and true and manly in their efforts to serve the great common people with profit. Under the headlines, "A Newspaper's Service," this great metropolitan journal says:

"Such episodes as the Blair pardon are the meat and drink of partisanship. Blair was given his liberty by a Republican Governor under weird circumstances. Immediately as at a given signal members of the opposite party seize upon the Republicans, chew them to bits and point to the scraps as the direful results of the electorate's mistake in commissioning the Republicans to office. While that phenomenon of partisanship is in operation, another is taking place.

"Members of the accused party bank themselves into a solid phalanx to deny, to refute, to counter-accuse, to hint at ulterior motives, to use the sword of the Lord and of Gideon to protect them from such "calumny" and "persecution." There is no give and take, no reasonableness, no cause of proportion on the one hand and no acceptance of guilt on the other.

"What is the result? The electorate is bewildered and confused. What facts that are not apparent are obscured, garbled and mangled by each set of partisans to support its peculiar tactics. A maze of low politics is constructed to hide the truth and the simple citizen, tired of attempting to peer through it, throws up his hands and concludes that politics is too much for him.

"In an adjoining column is printed an editorial from the Lexington Leader, a Republican newspaper, which discusses the action of Governor Morrow in pardoning Blair. It is quoted as a refreshing exception to the rule that partisans must always consider each other incapable of doing wrong. The Leader regrets it cannot go to the Governor's defense. It holds him responsible for his deed. It calls that deed an "inexcusable blunder" in its "best aspect."

"The Leader has not been blinded by its political sympathies to the facts in the particular case at hand. It is not, because it is a Republican, attempting to justify the Governor or to make him, because he is a Republican, less a scapegoat than he is.

"The Leader departs from the short-sighted partisan rule against admitting anything and, in so doing, it performs a service, first, to the electorate which is dependent upon it for information and second, to the party with which it is affiliated for encouraging it to admit its error and do better in the future. Such an attitude has never hurt a political party.

"The phenomena of partisanship described in this editorial will continue. But they need not extend to newspapers and, in the Leader's case, they did not. If all newspapers would emulate the Leader's attitude in the Blair case, it would be a good thing for politics and a source of happiness for the rapidly-increasing independent electorate which cares not a fig for parties except insofar as they are instruments in furnishing good government."

Too Hot for Loafing

According to a gifted scribe who devoted close attention to the happenings at the training camps of the pugilists, the main point considered in reference to the condition of the champion and the challenger was whether or not the men were sweating pretty. For to perspire becomingly is the mainspring of muscular perfection in hot weather.

Many people overlook the beauties of sweating. The dainty actually prefer not to sweat. They think it is unrefined. Their idea is to avoid any exertion and to keep their physical temperature below the point where saturation sets in.

But their notion is all wrong. The correct notion is to sweat and be happy. The man in the hammock is about forty degrees hotter and about 100 per cent unhappier than is the man who is wielding the hoe or following the humble mule as the double-shovel plow turns over the clods in the cornfield.

Shade has a reputation for delightfulness, but this is based mainly on the fact that perspiring persons feel so gratifyingly cool when they first get into the shadow of the foliage. But the pleasurable sensation traces back to the moist condition of the body. The nonsweater finds little relief in the shade. He gets less chance at a breeze and is subject to choky sensations. The fisherman, sitting on the bank of the stream, has about as much comfort as if he were at home near the kitchen stove. The woman on the divan is miserably hot. The loafer, everywhere, suffers severely from the heat.

The moral of it all is to get up a sweat. If the idle would be happy, the secret of bliss can be found in work, play, or in anything that will open the pores and make the perspiration flow. Therefore, the rule for hot weather is to sweat pretty and be happy.

Horses Going Good

All the horses at the local Fair Grounds track are in excellent condition and are fast rounding into form for the coming fair races here. There are several high-class trotters at the track, two as good as are found on any of the half-mile rings. Ivy Leaf, by Mainleaf, owned by J. R. Magowan and Bessie Montgomery, by Peter Montgomery, owned by Maple Hill Farm. The latter mare has been in 2:14 1/2, and Ivy Leaf in 15 seconds at the last end of a mile. Jay Lee, in the Magowan barn, is also working well, and has been an eighth in 15 1/4 seconds, while the three-year-old colt, Mt. Sterling, by J. Malcolm Forbes, is said to be one of the most sensational speed youngsters in the country. In the Van Evera barn there is a roan gelding owned by the Greene Brothers, that is considered one of the best green trotters in the state, while Donna Cochata, in the Bean barn, can trot this track in 2:15 or better. Bernice Moore, Mable T., Peter Bean, Peter Patchen, Albert O., Happy Todd and others are doing well. Indications are that there will be some good harness races at the Fair.

Fayette Organization Is Nearing Completion

Organization of Fayette county 4-h-y-men into a purebred bull association is progressing rapidly, 12 4-h-y-men who are owners of 175 purebred Jerseys having become members of the proposed association, according to a report of E. M. Prewitt, of the College of Agriculture, who is co-operating with County Agent W. R. Galbert in perfecting the organization. The association will be completed when 200 to 250 cows have been signed.

Teachers' Institute Highly Successful

The Montgomery County Teachers' Institute continues to grow in interest under the able management of County Superintendent Sledd, and the unique instruction of President Bricker, of Columbus, Ohio, and Miss Eudora L. South, of Frankfort.

Today Miss South gave instruction in the elements of public school music, together with the various qualities in the human singing voice. The various principles were illustrated by examples given on the phonograph. Some of the ablest voice artists of America and Europe were heard.

President Bricker continued his instruction on agricultural topics, giving type lessons with wheat and corn this morning, while his evening was taken up with a type lesson on pruning.

Several of the older teachers of the county declare that this is the most practical instruction that has been given to the teachers of Montgomery county in years. The teaching of agriculture in years past has been done in a haphazard manner, and the County Superintendent was determined that a specialist in agricultural education should be brought in to help the teachers out in this subject.

Next year the teachers are expected to give instruction and take examination in the elements of music, and Miss Sledd is getting the teachers of the county ready to do this work with credit to themselves and for the best results with the pupils.

This afternoon the teachers will go to Howards Mill on an outing from 4 to 8 o'clock. Those in the party are: Misses Ida Calk, Robin Calk, Edna Hastie, Nancy Ponders, June Barnes, Mamie Cochran, Ida Steele, Stella Copher, Neville Martin, Martha Rasnic, Mrs. Henry, Mrs. Myers, Mrs. Kratzer, Mrs. Gillie, Messrs. Robert Moss, Leland Hastie, O. W. Wills and instructors G. A. Bricker and Eudora South, and Supt. Sledd.

COL. ARMSTRONG'S COMMENT ON CEN- SUS REPORT OF KENTUCKY HORSES

The War Department Is Inter- ested in the Increase of Pure-Bred Horses

"There is the utmost need in this country today of increasing the number of pure-bred horses, particularly those of the thoroughbred type, on which the War Department must depend for its cavalry mounts in case of national emergency."

The above is a passage from the statement by Col. Frank S. Armstrong, Chief of the U. S. Army Remount Service, relative to the 1920 census of Kentucky horses.

The uneasiness of practical, patriotic men like Colonel Armstrong over the situation was amply justified by the lesson of the last great war, which so strikingly demonstrated the value of the horse in connection with modern warfare and revealed what would have become a pitiful shortage, had the Germans held out only a very few weeks longer than they did.

Nor must we forget the importance of breeding better horses more extensively in times of peace. Better bred horses mean better work horses; better prices for them, and a reader market.

The 1920 census figures indicate that Kentucky, as usual, will lead her sister states as to both number and class of horses, but even we are far from approaching what should be our quota in either count.

Colonel Armstrong's statement in full is as follows:

Despite the very small amount of pure-bred stock, as compared with the total number of horses in the state, I believe that, when similar figures for the other states become available, a comparison of all will show that Kentucky still holds its rank as the foremost state in producing thoroughbreds.

The relatively small percentage of thoroughbreds and of other classes of pure-bred stock included in the total number of horses in Kentucky, is a general, and not a local, situation, and the other states probably will show even smaller percentages. The same conditions, I am told, prevail with livestock other than horses, though probably not to the same extent as with the latter. The census report upholds and justifies the position taken by the American Remount Association that there is the utmost need in this country today of increasing the number of pure-bred horses, particularly those of the thoroughbred type, on which the War Department must depend for its cavalry mounts in case of national emergency, and which it met with great difficulty in procuring in sufficient numbers during the recent war. The national need of upbuilding and increasing American thoroughbred horses can not, in my opinion, be over emphasized."

Advertising Pays Says Mr. Tigert

Advertising is the most important factor in modern business, Dr. John J. Tigert, United States Commissioner of Education, declared in an address this week.

"Important as are the factors of labor, raw materials production, marketing and organization, none of these is as significant today as advertising," he said.

"In 1911, the newspaper was the greatest medium of advertising and it still stands as such. It is the only medium that can be used for immediate effect."

Prof. Produces Pretty Peculiar Patriotic Peace

After three years of experiment, Prof. William L. Woodburn, of Northwestern University, has produced an ear of corn containing red, white and blue kernels, he announced this week. Professor Woodburn asserted he soon would be able to perfect his corn so that the rows of kernels would show solid bars of red, white and blue. The colored corn was produced by crossing red and white ears to make blue ears, according to Professor Woodburn, and then grafting the three varieties.

Toast to Laughter

Here's to laughter, the sunshine of the soul, the happiness of the heart, the heaven of youth, the privilege of purity, the echo of innocence, the treasure of the humble, the wealth of the poor, the bread of the cup of pleasure; it dispels dejection, banishes blues and mangles melancholy; for it's the foe of woe, the destroyer of depression, the enemy of grief; it is what kings envy in peasants, plutocrats envy in the poor, the guilty envy in the innocent; it's the sheen on the silver of smiles, the glint of the gold of gladness; without it humor would be dumb, wit would wither, dimples would disappear and smiles would shrivel, for it's the glow of a clean conscience, the voice of a pure soul, the birth cry of mirth, the swan song of sadness.—Laugh.

Prince Albert's a new note in the joys of rolling 'em!

Talking about rolling your own cigarettes, we'll tell you right here that Prince Albert tobacco has 'em all lashed to the mast!

You've got a handful-of-happiness coming your direction when you pal it with P. A. and the makin's papers! For Prince Albert is not only delightful to your taste and pleasing in its refreshing aroma, but our exclusive patented process frees it from bite and parch!

And, for a fact, rolling up Prince Albert is mighty easy! P. A. is crimp cut and stays put and you whisk it into shape before you can count three! And, the next instant you're puffing away to beat the band!

Prince Albert is so good that it has led four men to smoke Jimmy pipes where one was smoked before! It's the greatest old buddy-smoke that ever found its way into a pipe or cigarette!
